

Visual UPDATE

Adult Education

● An indepth class on "The Ebbing Flame"

● Questions and answers

● Tasty breakfast

● Interesting discussions

The first Tuesday of every month, men and women gather at Bristol Associates Shanghai Offices and enjoy food for the body and soul. We tackle big issues such as euthanasia, freedom of expression, and fair business practice. We discover how Judaism offers a moral compass to help find direction through the labyrinth of life.

Every Thursday we gather for a Power Breakfast at the Perez's office. After a chance to don Tfillin and eat a delicious breakfast, we take apart a legal issue according to Jewish law.

Jteens

● Discussion "Should I Save bis Life"

● Yeb! Got a strike!

After a fabulous year of BMC Club, the girls have continued on to Jteens, With moral ethics as our topic of discussion, the girls have been very involved in the 3 meetings we have had. Some of the activities which we have done are bowling, chocolate forming and candle making.

Jewish Kids Club

Jewish Kids Club here we come! Pitting, cutting and then pressing olives was just a few of the steps the kids did to produce olive oil. The kids then built a beautiful wood Menorah for them to use on Chanuka.

● Omer removes olive pits

● Sasba sands her Menorah

● Kids crush the olives

Sunday School

Every week Class Aleph has been "traveling" to another location in our town, learning important lessons and Jewish values along the way. Some of the places the kids visited were: The doctor's office - learning about visiting the sick, the Garden - to plant vegetables as well as the Kosher Supermarket. The Hebrew letters have turned into exciting characters and our students absolutely love them.

● Kosher hunt at City Shop

● Class Aleph enjoys circle time

● Planting a vegetable garden

● Time for shopping!

● King David the shepherd

● Ofir rolls her challa dough

● Yoav with Mr. Zayin

Jewish Women's Circle

● Hadar creates her gel candle

● Sarah demonstrates how to make a candle

● Galia dyes the gel

● Havnig fun

● Merav melts the gel

The Jewish Women's Circle is a program for Jewish women, bringing them together to socialize, learn, laugh, and recharge.

At our first successful meeting, we discussed the strong impact a woman can have on her surroundings. Led by Sarah Vogel, the ladies used their creativity to design exquisite gel candles.

There are 5 JWC meetings scheduled for this year. Please email Nechamie to receive the yearly schedule.

Profiling?

Did you travel lately to USA? You probably experienced one of two things – either the full body scans or an “enhanced patdown.”

In Israel, these procedures are avoided through the use of the “profiling method”. Instead of screening every traveler, they concentrate on those who look suspicious.

The decision of which method of screening is better, I will leave to the experts. In Judaism though, profiling is unacceptable. One cannot judge a Jew by his appearance. If you have the right screening devices, you will discover that deep down, there is a Jewish spark in each and every one.

The children were excited to create a 6 foot (!) Menorah out of donuts, and to sing together Chanukah songs in Hebrew, English, Yiddish and even Chinese. The participants enjoyed delicious food and a range of activities: decorating donuts, Chanukah candle making, Menorah built from food, and Dreidels made out of clay.

● Building the donut Menorah

● Tzachi and his son kindles the Menorah

● Yum! Cotton Candy

● Reouven, Glenn and Isaac, sing "Oh Dreidel" in Chinese....

● Menorah velvet art

● Grand donut contest
