

Visual UPDATE

Talented Jteens

● Rice Crispy treats- YUM!!

● Check out our bracelets!

Jewelry making, tie- dying T-shirts and making rice crispy treats, are just some of the activities done at the last couple of Jteens meetings.

The first hour is spent discussing very important moral ethics, such as freedom of speech, free choice and how Judaism relates to these topics. The girls then get to enjoy a variety of activities while socializing with other girls.

● Kate tie-dyes her T-shirt

● Sarah looks at her product

● Yuval creates earrings

NEW! - Weekly Friday Night Services

● The room for the children's program

● Weekly Synagogue

Friday night services are taking place now weekly! The kids sing with the adults the Lecha Dodi, and then join a Children's program. A basketball hoop was installed for the big boys to enjoy after they finish their prayer. Come & help build our synagogue... you will enjoy it!

Purim in the Royal Palace

Adults and children in costume, came to Purim in the palace, high in spirit. After hearing the Purim story and twirling the Graggers, the carnival began.

Kids had a fabulous time running from booth to booth doing lots of activities and winning many prizes.

The party concluded with a fascinating Bubble show. Bubbles were flying everywhere. Some children were even placed in a bubble!

● Moses and Pharaoh are making peace

● Reading the Megilla in the palace

● Purim princesses

● The Rich children win a gold fish

Thanks to:

Nir and Limor Lazaros
For general help and running the carnival

Hagit Kreinen
Gala Lusetsky
For cooking a delicious feast

Olesya Kobimina
Sharon Perez
For the tasty Hamantashen

Sol Kalnicki
For the beautiful Purim sign

Isaac Epstein
For running the Multimedia

Hadar Sella, Sharon Perez,
Olesya Kobimina,
& to all the teens:
Rivkab Azulay, Meredith
Gottbetter; Lyle Kabn, Daniel
Keinan, Eliana Keinan &
friend, Oran Rabamtm,
Sarah Shaya, & Mesbi Sella,
For running the best Carnival ever!

● Kids squirt the candles at the king's feast

● Happy Purim!

● Hit the target - Sponge Haman!

● Bubbleman Show- Cool!

● The winner of the wonder box!!

A Hebrew School That Makes Learning Real

● Aleph Bet Candy Land game

● Children dress up in the king's palace

● Yoav & Yonatan paint masks for Purim

● Kids shop at the pet shop

At Pudong Hebrew School learning becomes alive through hands-on activities. Children are excited and enthusiastic about what they are learning.

● Opbir experiments with yeast

● Daniella shapes a Nun out of foil

● Max baking Hamantaschen

Thanks! We would like to extend our thanks to our generous supporters:

Sponsors 2011

Joseph Weintraub
Reouven & Sharon Perez
Morris & Hanna Ohana
Eyal Bafri
Anonymous

Partners 2011

Michael & Elanna Bruck
Isaac Epstein
Shlomo & Osnat Fridman
Glenn & Pei-wen Leibowitz
Ishai Bettan

Sponsors of the monthly Friday Night buffet meal:

March: Glenn & Pei-wen Lewkowicz
April: Brian & Joyce Gottbetter

Contributors

David Kampf
Robert Reisner
Eric and Lauren Muhlheim

Donations listed are from January 2011 - March 2011

Tiger Mother

Author Amy Chua triggered a heated conversation advocating the Asian approach of tough Chinese mothering to raise accomplished and successful children.

Throughout history, the Yiddishe Mama was a strong force in the education of her children, pushing for the "doctor" and "lawyer." But it was not done the Tiger Mother way – because with love (and a dose of Jewish guilt) one can reach even higher. The Jewish culture also achieved the goals of raising educated and accomplished children but we did it the Jewish way, with high expectations – and love.

● Girls night out... having fun

● Priority game

● Paskal and Olesya try on different bats

● Pastry cornucopia shaping with Sharon Perez

● Hagit giving a Passover cooking presentation

Community's Voice

The Pudong Jewish community is more than just a community, it is an extended family for many of us especially my family. We were always concerned at what kind of Jewish exposure our girls, Ella (4) and Mia (2), would get in Shanghai and we couldn't have been more surprised. The remarkable thing is the diversity of the community and its various degrees of religious observance. Everyone is welcome wholeheartedly by Rabbi Avraham and Nechamie representing the true spirit of Judaism! Highly recommended!

The Perez family

Invitation

For those men who want a little "food for the soul", there is a Power Breakfast hosted by the Rabbi every Thursday morning at the Perez's office for over a year now! We start off by donning tefilin and then over bagels/croissants/cream cheese/lox and primo Italian coffee, discuss various Jewish ideas from evolution to the meaning of kosher to why Jackie Mason makes us howl! Casual and informal, it is a great weekly escape from the Shanghai day to day. Consider it like "Kabbalah Lite"!

Every Thursday except holidays from 7:30 to 8:30 am at China 1 Link offices, 60 Mudan Rd, (corner Pujian Rd), Dongchen Bldg. Suite # 1903.

Reouven, Sharon, Ella and Mia Perez

CHABAD JEWISH CENTER OF PUDONG

WHERE EVERY JEW IS FAMILY

Vila # 69, 2255 Luoshan Road, Pudong, Shanghai, 200235 CHINA

罗山路2255弄近花木路汤臣湖庭别墅69号

Phone: 86.21.5878.2008
 Fax: 86.21.5879.3689
 Email: info@JewishPudong.com
 Website: JewishPudong.com